Strike Threatens All Telephone Service

FINAL TALKS FAIL TO HALT BIG WALKOUT

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—CIO equipment workers struck the huge Bell Telephone network from coast-to-coast today in a work stoppage that threatened to paralyze a major link in the nation's communication system.

The long-threatened walkout began at dawn on the East Coast and spread gradually across the country as the 6 a. m. local time deadline passed.

Fighting flared in Pittsburgh where two off-duty policemen arrested but in vain clothes-clashed with pickets. Other police broke up the fight and the two patrolmen were charged with disorderly conduct and assaulting the pickets.

The 33,000 strikers are members of the CIO Communications Workers Union. Some 16,000 are employed by Western Electric Company, manufacturing and installing arm of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. A wage dispute touched off the walkout after the union rejected a proposed wage increase of 10 to 14 cents an hour. The union asked a "substantial" boost.

The remaining strikers are employed by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, involved in a separate wage dispute with the company.

Passport Visas Ordered For Nine Red China Envoys

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The state department announced today it has ordered passport visas issued to nine Chinese Communist envoys who are coming to the United Nations to discuss the Formosa issue.

The U. S. embassy at Prague, Czechoslovakia, was directed to issue the visas, which are in effect entry permits. Members of the group will be required to remain in the New York area during their stay.

The China Red regime was invited by the UN Security Council to send representatives to discuss the Formosa issue. The United States had committed armed invasion of Formosa.

A state department announcement said that in view of the Security Council's invitation, the United States was obligated to permit the group to enter.

An agreement between the U. S. and the UN which was approved by Congress provides that the federal, state and local authorities of the United States shall not impose any impediments to transit to or from the headquarters of the United Nations.

Communists are barred from entry into the United States under the Immigration and Naturalization Act of 1952 and subsequent immigration legislation to permit the Chinese delegation to enter.

U. S. Intends To Press Its Charges Against Chinese

By TOM OCHILTREE
LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The United States intended today to press without delay its charges of Chinese Communist intervention in Korea despite the apparent inclination of some other members of the security council to proceed slowly with the case.

An American source said the U. S. delegation is making a final check with Washington on the wording of its resolution and might bring the document into the UN today.

The resolution is understood to demand the withdrawal of alien forces—Chinese Communists—fighting in support of the North Korean Reds and to call on all governments to refrain from assisting the North Koreans.

The security council's next scheduled meeting is for Friday afternoon on the Palestine case. The United States delegation could call for a meeting before that on the Korean issue, possibly on Friday morning.

Diplomatic Front Holds Attention During War Lull

SEOUL, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Korean fighting fronts were ominously quiet today. Attention shifted to diplomatic fronts. Only in the air was the war as usual.

There was no major contact reported with Red forces—either Korean or Chinese—in all Korea. Only on the northwest front was there any contact at all. There a tanked patrol of the U. S. 24th division ran into 200 or 300 enemy troops.

Marines Unopposed.
In North-Central Korea, U. S. Marines advanced unopposed to within nine miles of the vital Changjin power dam. Only four days ago Korean and Chinese Reds had put up bitter resistance in this sector.

For the Marines it was a gain of nearly a mile along the tortuous canyon road leading northwest from the east coast city of Hamhung, 40 miles to the south. Changjin reservoir is the heart of a huge hydro-electric system.

Diplomatic strokes apparently were developing behind the back of the war. A U. S. Eighth Army staff officer said the war is now in a strange phase in which diplomatic moves perhaps are as important as military moves.

UN Requests Reply.
The UN Security Council has asked Communist China to reply to charges of throwing tens of thousands of troops into the war in its final stages.

Charges of Chinese Red intervention were made Monday by General MacArthur, the UN commander. Abrupt withdrawals by the counter-attacking Reds followed.

The Chinese seemed to have pulled back after the 7 p. m. ceasefire. Certainly they had the manpower in Korea to keep the pressure on if they wished.

MacArthur's spokesman in Tokyo said that some 60,000 Chinese Red troops are across the Manchurian border to help an equal number of Korean Reds.

The spokesman added that another 60,000 Chinese Red troops are in the Yalu river boundary in Manchuria and could quickly enter the fighting.

Other Estimates Larger.
In Peking, Chinese Communist intelligence officers placed 54,000 Chinese Reds in Korea with 24 degrees in the Panhandle, 24-32 in the South Plains and upper portions of the Pecos Valley eastward, and 32-34 in the extreme north portion of Enclave, Texas.

Truman Faces Necessity Of Congress Compromise

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—President Truman faced the hard necessity today of compromising with a preponderantly hostile Congress on domestic and foreign proposals.

Although Democrats held onto numerical control of both houses in Tuesday's election, there was little remaining doubt that Mr. Truman is up against the toughest opposition he has been confronted with since the Republicans won control of the 80th congress.

Coalition To Control.
A shifting coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats will make most of the major decisions in the new 82nd congress, which convenes in January.

Heated by the election results, the same group will have a lot to say about what happens in the final meeting of the 81st scheduled to resume Nov. 27—or sooner if the President calls it back.

On foreign policy questions, the President probably faces even stiffer opposition than he encountered in 1947 and 1948 when the GOP-controlled congress was riding high. In those days the lawmakers were primarily concerned in a patriotic way with such issues as price control and the absence of commodities on the post-war market.

First Methodist School Is Closed

The district training school that has been in session this week at the First Methodist Church was brought to a close with the Wednesday night session. Five courses were taught: "At Work With Adults" by Rev. Roy Felder, pastor at Blooming Grove; "Life of Jesus" by Dr. Chet C. Henson; "Vocations for Youth" by Rev. W. H. Cole of Waco, executive secretary of the Conference Board of Education; "Workers With Youth" by Mrs. Claudia Hinson, and "Knowing Children Better" by Mrs. W. H. Cole of Waco.

Dr. Chet C. Henson, pastor of First Church, was day of the school with Mrs. Floyd Chambliss of First Church enrollment secretary and Dr. D. A. Chisholm superintendent for the District, assisting.

The school was well attended and certificates to those who had done a certain amount of work and who had attended the required sessions were issued. The school was divided in two class periods each night with a motion picture shown on various religious themes during the intermission. Additional schools at Frost and Coolidge were announced.

width at the present time. West of Thirty-first street, Highway 31 broadens to 42 feet, the width the bottleneck section will be if the bond issue passes.

City officials explain that most of the $50,000 will be spent for purchase of property, laying curb and gutters and drainage. They pointed out that several property owners along the nine-block section have offered right-of-way free in order to have a better street.

Need Better Street
One citizen who lives in the section to be improved said: "No matter what it costs we sure need a better street. If we can save but one life and prevent one accident the money needed will be well spent."

If the bond issue passes Corsicana will have a modern street for the heavy traffic which passes over Highway 31.

In its present condition, the section of West Seventh avenue from Twenty-second to Thirty-first street is a definite traffic hazard and a menace to the traveling public.

Another major proposal being considered by city officials is the street improvement bonds are okayed is the construction of one or more through streets between West Second and West Seventh avenues between Fifteenth and Thirty-first streets.

Presently it is impossible to drive straight through from Second to Seventh avenue on the west side of the city west of Fifteenth street. One can reach either avenue from the other only by a zigzagging course.

It has been pointed out that if through streets are constructed the entire city will benefit—not just those who own property on the selected through streets.

Present Routes Dangerous
The course one has to travel to get from Second to Seventh avenue, via turns and corners, is dangerous, not only for the motorists but also for pedestrians.

In addition to the above-mentioned projects, the city officials hope to have money enough left to improve several of the city's main streets.

Every motorist knows, most of the city streets are in sad condition and any money spent for their improvement will be beneficial to the entire city.

The issues being voted on are 25-year bonds. City Atty. Julius Jacobs estimated a tax of 2 1/2 cents on the $100 assessed valuation would pay for the interest and principal of the highway improvements.

Thus, a person paying taxes on $5,000 assessed valuation would pay about $1.25 a year for a better and safer Corsicana.

The street improvement project is but one of four issues aimed to make Corsicana a better and more modern city.

Voters alone can help the city go ahead by going to the polls Tuesday and voting for the bond issues of their choice.

TRUMAN
Truman didn't seem to have much to cheer about except the defeat to cheer about. He had supported Emory A. Alfors against Jennings in the party primary.

Still, the President could recall an even worse defeat in the off-year congressional elections of 1946 when the Republicans swept into control of both houses.

From that party defeat he made one of political history's most startling comebacks two years later to win his own election and sweep his Democratic party back into control. Democratic losses this year—coupled with the defeat of a number of Truman's staunchest backers in the Senate—must have been a bitter blow. More optimistic than any other top Democrat, Mr. Truman had maintained his party would win in a landslide.

Nevertheless, Ross could say the President was a very cheerful man, and newsmen on this craft got a jaunty wave from the grinning Chief Executive when the two vessels came alongside Wednesday.

Result Of Proper Farm Planning

Our friend, W. Lewis David, has picked 412 pounds of lint cotton per acre on 198 acres this year. Since this is so far above the average for the county, we feel that Mr. David is to be congratulated on this fine accomplishment. For many years he has had a definite plan of farm betterment and soil conservation which is now paying real dividends in additional production. He has been more than generous in trying to help other farmers develop a plan which would make farming more interesting and more profitable. We appreciate him as an outstanding farmer.

If you, in carrying out a farm improvement program, need our help in any way, come in and talk it over with one of our officers.

PLANNING FOR SERVICE

Defense Secretary George C. Marshall appears to have hit on a happy idea in his plan to have the armed services figure their man-power needs six months in advance and give reservists at least four months' warning before calling them up. It remains to be seen whether this can actually be done. And it has to be recognized that in a sudden emergency situation such as that created by the Korean incident such a plan could not be kept in force.

The idea seems good for the long pull. Why could it not be applied to Selective Service as well? If needs were known six months in advance, the men who would have to be drafted to meet them could be so notified and given their induction examinations, so that acceptance or rejection could be decided. Then both the potential draftee and his employer would know where they stand.

Such practices would remove much of the uncertainty which hampers the life of the man of military age.

BENEFIT OF TROUBLES

Without troubles, life would be dull, indeed, says Dr. Wayland F. Vaughan, a Boston University psychologist. He means "troubles," not "trouble." Real trouble may be a serious matter, every-day trials lend variety to daily life and build character.

Vaughan evidently has in mind something like the philosophy laid down for climatic variations by the late Ellsworth Huntington, a Yale University geographer. In his book, "Civilization and Climate," Huntington says that the best weather conditions in which to live are those that vary, with storms interrupting spells of fine weather. This might argue that California's uninterrupted sunshine is in the long run less stimulating than the climate of the eastern United States. Strangely, the California climate, and others like it, remain envied.

And most people would be entirely willing to risk the long run consequences for the sake of a period entirely free from things that go wrong.

LIVING AND ARMING

In their zeal for rearming Europe as a safety measure, American officials in the field have not lost sight of the need for maintaining decent living conditions at the same time, according to a report from The Hague. More direct assistance may be given to industrial firms in the countries where the Economic Co-operation Administration operates if a program now under consideration is carried out.

With increased production as a goal, American firms may be urged to "adopt" European industrial companies, this close association to result in an exchange of information and of techniques. Under this scheme European staffs would be trained here and more comprehensive apprentice systems would be set up in Marshall Plan countries. Paris headquarters of ECA also will have a staff of American management engineers upon whom Europeans may call for help.

There have already been successful exchanges of technicians and supervisors among business and industrial firms, with benefit to both sides in the way of mutual understanding as well as in technical knowledge. A more intensive program along these lines might bring many benefits besides a stable living standard for Europe.

GERMAN ARMS QUESTION

The question of rearming Germany is becoming more and more troublesome. It is one on which a serious breach could develop among the Western Powers, unless great care is taken in dealing with it. The determined and vehement French opposition is based on historic experience as a neighbor of Germany, and should not be regarded lightly. Moreover, because it is based on long experience, the French stand will not be altered casually.

The reason for which the United States proposes German rearmament are questionable at best. They are not based on the re-education or the attitudes of the German people. Rather we have permitted ourselves to be pushed into the proposition by our fears of Russian aggression, and particularly by the creation of a Communist army in East Germany. Yet there are many European observers who wonder whether Russia has created, in its East German army, a Frankenstein monster. The same question would inevitably arise about a West German army.

By economic and military weight the American position probably could be made to prevail. If that should be done, it would be an action taken on the strength of great faith in our diplomatic and military appraisals of the European situation and of the complex human factors which will influence it in the future. The rearming of Germany, under present circumstances, would be a momentous act.

YES-MEN FOR DICTATORS

"Keitel has the mind of a doorman." Whether Hitler so characterized his army chief of staff before or after he appointed him does not matter. The significant fact is that he kept him there, though there were better men available, such as Rundstedt and Brauchitsch.

The reason apparently was that Keitel was an obsequious yes-man who continually flattered the Fuehrer, whereas other high generals occasionally told him that he was wrong. There were many other fawners in the Hitler entourage, and their number increased as the war continued. Hitler's preference for this type of servant over the men of honest independence did much to bring the Nazi regime to its final crash.

There are many signs that the Stalin government in Russia has a preference for yes-men. Unfavorable news from abroad is received coldly and if continually sent is regarded as a proof of disloyalty. This tendency could be as fatal to Stalin and his circle as it was to Hitler.

A MATTER OF SALT

The importance of salt is attested by the long series of much-quoted remarks about it. To this series might some day be added the conclusions of Douglas W. McKee, a Canadian chemist, who says it started kissing. He thinks cave dwellers licked each other's faces to obtain the surface salt, and so the kiss was discovered, rather than invented as Jonathan Swift supposed. Among other uses, salt is taken, a grain at a time, with tales like this one.

The Church By Divine Direction Handled Racial Issue Courageously—Peter And Cornelius Were Protagonists in Dramatic Episode—The Primitive Christian Church Model For All Ages

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

If anyone should think that the old story of Peter's vision on the Joppa housetop is out of date, he need but read the daily newspaper or the current magazine, or better still, go to the scene of the incident itself, modern Jaffa, with its next-door neighbor, the modern all-Jewish city of Tel-Aviv. There he will find religious and racial antagonism as red hot as it was in the days of the apostles. Still a Problem.

Here, then, is a state of things to be frankly faced and admitted. All over the earth today are bitter antagonisms between racial and religious groups. Recall the Moslem-Hindu strife in India; the Christian-Moslem antagonism in the Near East; the strife of large sections of Asia against the European nations which have long occupied their territories and dominated them; the discrimination between whites and negroes in the United States and South Africa. These are but a few of the cleavages which mark contemporary history and which are comparable with the Jewish-Gentile chasm which existed in Bible times.

Then as now, good people had these prejudices as something sacred. Most violent of all the wrenches suffered by the early Christian church was the division over the admission of the Gentiles. It took a general church council at Jerusalem to settle it, after Peter and Paul had pioneered the way beyond Jewish lines. It took a thrice-repeated housetop vision to Peter at Joppa and the efforts of Paul, to convince the church that Christ died for all men and that "there is no distinction between Jew and Greek for the same Lord is Lord of all, and is rich unto all that call upon him."

God's Clear Message.

Just as some occidental Bible readers can scarcely envisage the common use of the housetop in eastern life—they try to picture Peter perched on a ridge-pole—so they cannot understand the deep-seated Judaism of the apostles. The first Christian thought that Christ had died to risk a way for the Jews. Converts should only for the Jews. Converts should become Jewish proselytes. Their imaginations were unequal to grasping the magnitude and comprehensiveness of the Gospel of which they were custodians. Peter got his lesson in dramatic fashion. While waiting for his host he went up on the roof of his host's home and fell asleep. There came to him a strange dream, three times repeated for emphasis. He saw a sheet let down from the skies holding all manner of living creatures and he was commanded to slay and eat. Good Jew that he was, the apostle protested that some of the food was ceremonially unclean; and he had never violated the Levitical law.

While Peter was wondering the meaning of the vision, three men were called for him at the gate. They were messengers from a Roman centurion who lived up the coast at Caesarea. This officer, Cornelius, was a godly man; and he, too, had received a vision, bidding him send for Peter, to learn further truth. God's clocks are all synchronized. While he worked in Joppa, he also worked in Caesarea. His business was exactly timed to coordinate with his business in a sumptuous Roman home in Caesarea.

To make a long story short, Peter made the trip to Caesarea, found the household of Cornelius gathered together, preached to them, and the Spirit fell on uncircumcised and unbaptised persons and was constrained to admit that these Gentiles had been accepted by God. As recounted in today's lesson, Peter later told all of this wonderful story to the church in Jerusalem, when criticism arose concerning his baptism of the Gentiles. And the church, all criticism stilled for the moment, concurred in the action. A True Christian Church.

Now what kind of a church grew out of this momentous decision reached under the guidance of the Holy Spirit? Paul describes it in the passage from Philippians which comprises the second part of today's lesson. It is a church full of the spirit of witnessing, where believers love one another, and fellowship together regardless of race, language, color, or culture. It is a joyful church, "do-ing nothing through faction or through vain glory, but in lowliness of mind each counting other better than himself; not looking each... to his own things, but each... also to the things of others." This, indeed, is a church in which men and women, as Paul declared, have in them the mind which was also in Christ Jesus.

The tenth and eleventh chapters of Acts which relate the events and the passage from Philippians which describes the spirit of a true Christian church are so important that they might well be memorized by preachers, sociologists, statesmen, journalists, and the multitude of everyday people who look for the dawning of a day when the human race will be a brotherhood and when the world will be a fit and secure place in which the children of God may dwell.

Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others. Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus.—Philippians 2:4-6.

Public Health Committee Endorses Tuesday's Bond Issue Proposals

The public health committee of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday passed a motion recommending that the Chamber go on record as approving the issues being voted in the special election Tuesday.

Members of the committee said they so voted because they believed every proposition directly or indirectly affects the health of Corsicans.

Dr. J. Wilson David is chairman of the committee. A discussion on the dry-toilet project in the city was held and the committee was of the opinion that a good start had been made this year and that several dry toilets had been done away with.

One member pointed out that more residences would have been tied on to sewer lines had not materials become scarce about the time the campaign was going on.

The committee members stated they believed the program should be vigorously followed up when the new disposal plant is completed, and when new sewer lines are built, and materials are available.

A report on fly-mosquito control work during the past summer was made by Miss Loreta Gailhard, health unit sanitarian. Dr. William Shell reported on blood bank plans and operations. Dr. Shell said that a good start had been made this year and that several dry toilets had been done away with.

Five Indictments Are Returned By County Probers

Five indictments were returned by the grand jury to A. P. Mays, district judge, late Monday afternoon. The probers recessed subject to call.

Four of the bills were for keeping and exhibiting a policy game—and named as defendants Aubrey A. Thomas, alias Jack Thomas; Samuel Hooker, Selma L. Burnett, alias Rags Burnett, and J. R. Derden, alias Red Derden. The indictments alleged the offense on Oct. 18, this year.

The fifth indictment was against Ben Widener, murder, in connection with the shotgun slaying of Mose D. Morrison, negro, Oct. 28, in Corsicana.

Charles T. Banister, county attorney, immediately set the four policy indictments for trial next Monday, Nov. 13, following a telephone conversation with Eolin Bond, Groesbeck, special prosecutor employed by the city of Corsicana.

Judge Mays set the bonds of the five defendants at $5,000 each. The four policy indictments were returned as the result of a raid on Highway 31 east of Corsicana Oct. 18, by city, state and county officers when a quantity of equipment was seized.

No Action on Raids.
No indictments were returned in connection with the week end raids conducted in Corsicana and Kerens when football tickets, etc., were found in Corsicana, and a couple of slot machines were seized at Kerens. It is presumed the probers will continue investigations into those matters at their next meeting.

Highway Patrolmen Jack Gaines and H. E. Tucker investigated the accident and said the mishap was caused by a tire blowout. Wheeler escaped injury.

The steel will have to be re-smelted before use, it was stated. The accident occurred about 6 a. m. and normal traffic was resumed 2½ hours later. Some of the asphaltic topping on the bridge was burned.

Truck Burns On Highway Bridge

An unusual traffic accident snarled traffic on Highway 75 several hours early Monday morning. A Seco truck from Houston, driven by Marlin Elbert Wheeler of Houston, hauling steel re-inforcing for the Navarro County Memorial Hospital here, was here was destroyed by fire when a fuel tank on the side of the vehicle struck a bridge bannister on Miller Creek.

TASTY VEGETABLE PLATE... A test for cook.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE.

Associated Press Food Editor.

Learn how to prepare a delicious vegetable plate and you're on your way to being a really good cook. Vegetables are one of the hardest tests of all, in cooking, because they're so easy to ruin. Too much water in the saucepan in which the vegetable was cooked, too long cooking, poor seasoning, and the same old way of serving are usually responsible for poor vegetable dishes. Follow the directions exactly in preparing the following recipes for Zucchini Squash, tomatoes and peas and carrots, and you'll have vegetable cookery that is super-tasteful.

Zucchini Hollandaise.

Ingredients—2 pounds zucchini squash, 1 1-2 teaspoons salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons butter, Mock Hollandaise Sauce. Method—Wash zucchini and cut into thirds or quarters lengthwise, without paring. Cook in tightly covered saucepan with 1 inch boiling, salted water (1-2 teaspoon salt to 1 cup water) for 10 to 15 minutes; drain. Sprinkle with 1-2 teaspoons salt and the pepper and fry in butter until lightly browned on all sides. Turn into hot serving dish and top with Mock Hollandaise Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Mock Hollandaise Sauce.
Ingredients—4 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 cup milk, 1-4 cups milk, 2 egg yolks (slightly beaten), 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Method—Melt butter over low heat, add flour and seasonings; blend. Stir in milk, working out lumps; return egg mixture to sauce stirring as you do so. Cook over hot water or very low heat 2 minutes longer. Blend in lemon juice. Serve hot. Makes 6 servings.

Baked or Broiled Tomatoes.
Ingredients—3 medium-sized (about 1 pound) tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 cup buttered bread crumbs, 1-2 cup grated American cheese.

Method—Cut each tomato in half and sprinkle halves with salt and pepper. Mix crumbs and cheese and pack lightly on each tomato half. Place in baking pan and bake in moderate (375° F) oven for 15 minutes, or broil 8 to 10 minutes under low heat. Makes 6 servings.

Curry Buttered Peas and Carrots.
Ingredients—2 1-2 cups cooked peas and carrots, 1-4 cup butter (melted), 1-4 teaspoon curry powder.

Method—Have peas and carrots drained and hot; mix melted butter and curry powder well and stir into peas and carrots. Makes 6 servings.

COMPROMISE

But the Korean war and the moves to rearm Western Europe against possible Russian attack will lay emphasis on foreign policy in the new year's session. The Marshall plan windup in Europe and a possible Pacific defense pact will vie for top attention.

Republicans seemed convinced they won major election laurels on the basis of their attack on what G. G. Gabrielson, the GOP national chairman, has called "bungling" by the administration in handling foreign affairs—particularly in the Far East.

They can be expected to renew their attack on Secretary of State Acheson, one of the prime targets for the Communist-in-government charges of Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.). McCarthy's charges were given a new lustre by defeat of Senator Millard E. Tydings, Maryland Democrat, Tydings headed the foreign relations subcommittee which investigated the charges. The three-man Democratic majority dismissed them as a "fraud and hoax." Many Republicans contended the majority report was a "whitewash."

Could Dump Acheson
President Truman probably could pull a lot of the Republican punch against his international program by firing Acheson. But Truman is a man noted for sticking by his appointive friends.

Of course, Truman dismissed Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson during the campaign. Johnson left office on a wave of resentment against the early reverses in the Korean campaign.

Some Republicans said at the time that the President fired the wrong man—that the vacant cabinet chair should have been Acheson's. But Truman had made his choice between the two men and there was every indication he would stick to it.

If he is willing to compromise, the President may be able to keep partially intact his program for helping other nations to build their economic and military strength to resist Communist aggression.

Southern Democrats who often leave his camp on domestic issues generally favor this program. Enough of them may rally with administration Democrats and some Republicans to put it across in modified form.

No Smooth Sailing
But the going won't be smooth. Senator Taft (R-Ohio), with the biggest mandate ever given him by Ohio voters, already has made it clear that the foreign military assistance program faces stiff inquiry. Senator Millikin (R-Colo.), also an administration foreign policy critic, won by only a slightly smaller margin in Colorado.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, will be encouraged by the election results to increase his critical fire on Truman foreign policy. Senator-elect Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) and Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) can be expected to join the chorus of criticism.

If Truman's foreign proposals are in bad shape, his domestic "fair deal" program is in even worse condition from a legislative standpoint.

Brannan Plan Gone
The Brannan farm subsidy payment plan which he fostered turned up its first-bitten toes even before the election when administration supporters began shying away from it.

One of the chief senate backers of the President's compulsory health insurance plan was eliminated by the defeat of Senator Elbert D. Thomas (D-Utah).

The revised lineup of lawmakers in the new congress may give short shrift to any presidential suggestion for major change in the anti-subversive law. Its author, Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) was one of the handful of northern Democratic senators reelected.

Price and wage controls will come in for a lot of attention. Republicans charged before the election that Truman failed to use all of his powers to curb inflation. It remains to be seen whether the GOP now is ardent on that score.

Any efforts to repeal what Truman has called the "union busting" sections of the Taft-Hartley act apparently expired at the ballot boxes in Ohio with Taft's reelection.

Defense Support Due
But with all of his troubles, the President could expect a fairly unified front in congress on one issue—the building up of American military forces to meet the threat of Communist aggression anywhere in the world.

This expensive operation which may run next year's budget up to $55,000,000,000 probably will defeat any full scale budget balancing and economy moves.

WEATHER

7:30 a. m. light showers were falling at Palacios.

Strong winds kicked up some dust in Northwest Texas. Visibility was cut to one mile at Wichita Falls.

Low temperatures early today included Amarillo 22, Dalhart 24, Lubbock 25, Marfa 25, Childress 26, Midland 31, Wind 31, Fritch 32, Big Spring 32. In contrast, the lowest temperature during the night at Galveston, where the cold front had not struck, was 70 degrees.

The coldest weather of the season, with blizzard conditions in some areas, chilled Western and Central parts of the United States today. The Texas north was a part of the cold wave. Readings were near zero in parts of the Rocky Mountain regions. A seven-inch blanket of snow covered Denver and Lander, Wyo. The fall at International Falls, Minn., measured more than six inches.

Green Hands Are Initiated Monday By Mildred FFA

Seven boys received the Green Hand degree Monday night in the Mildred gymnasium at the meeting of the Mildred chapter of Future Farmers of America. Following the initiation, J. H. Davis, Mildred vocational agriculture teacher, presented each of the Green Hands a bronze pin symbolic of their degree.

The Green Hands defeated the chapter Farmers in a basketball game, 21-19. Ice cream was served following the game. The Green Hands initiated Monday were Charles Capehart, Eureka; Clayton Smith, Navarro; O. B. Scruggs, Eureka; Johnny Nitt, Eureka; William Teague, Navarro; Keith Farmer, Navarro; Lawrence DeMoss, Navarro.

TEXAS PHONES

Of these cities, Borker and Midland could be worst hurt as they are the only cities without dial telephone service. If Bell employees in those two cities do not cross picket lines, supervisory personnel there were expected to have a difficult time handling service.

Late word from Odessa was that "some operators are not crossing picket lines." Midland reported its telephone service was on an "emergency basis only."

"The company will continue to do everything in its power to meet its obligation to furnish telephone service to its customers. However, it will not be possible to handle other than emergency long distance calls, and telephone users are being asked to limit all calls requiring the service of an operator. Dial service is not affected."

Union leaders in Dallas said there are 830 members of the Western Electric union in Texas. The union is composed of installers who work on central telephone equipment and warehouse and supply workers.

R. W. Representative of the CIO Communications Workers Southwestern division, said in Dallas that about 2300 telephone workers in Texas would be affected.

Two pickets were out at Odessa. Fort Worth's 50 union members set up a three-man picket line which could idle, in all, 1,800 Bell employees.

Unaccountably, Western Electric employees at Beaumont went on strike but did not immediately establish picket lines because there were no pickets about 600 Bell employees worked as usual.

Picket lines were thrown up on schedule at most other points. At Wichita Falls a union meeting was scheduled to "set policy."

At San Antonio, where spectators joined pickets in breasting the cold north winds, District Bell Manager Paul "Long" distance calls will be crippled by the strike but we will handle as many as we have personnel to operate the circuits.

Calls Curtailed
Although there was no strike at Texas cities other than the 15 where Western Electric has employees, effects of the strike spread. Phone users said they could not make long distance calls to those cities directly affected except for emergencies.

About 450 men were on strike in Dallas. The number of affected Bell employees there approached 1,800. Supervisory personnel manning the long Dallas switchboard answered calls with "Dallas, emergency calls only, please."

Special efforts were made to handle police, fire and hospital calls. The Bell office at Houston reported the picketing there was "effective." Division Manager J. E. Patterson said he had only a few people on hand to replace the 4,000 union employees who refused to cross picket lines.

About 20 Western Electric workers were on strike at Corpus Christi. Picket lines surrounding three buildings and about 250 telephone workers were idled. The Corpus Christi Valley Times reported difficulty in making routine daily telephone checks for news.

At San Angelo, normal local service prevailed as no Western Electric crews were stationed there. However, a local union official said that if Western Electric moved in pickets his members would honor them.

Picketing at Austin was limited to three union members who walked in front of Bell's downtown building. There were no pickets at the North Austin exchange, which contains mostly automatic dial equipment, nor at the service garage.

Western Electric workers went on strike at Port Arthur but did not set up picket lines. Telephone union spokesmen said their 300 Port Arthur members would respect picket lines if they appear.

POTENTIALS

H. Duff of Pennsylvania, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Senator-Elect Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Harold E. Stassen, and Paul G. Hoffman, former ECA administrator.

On the Democratic side, party leaders can call on the 1948 winning ticket of President Truman and Vice President Barkley. As second choice they apparently must think of new faces too.

With Lucas, Myers, Tydings and Bowles eliminated in Tuesday's

GOP upsurge, party leaders might turn to such men as Senator Paul H. Douglas or Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois; Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio; Gov. Sidney S. McMath of Arkansas, Senator Brien McMahon of Connecticut, and Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Several of these, however, apparently would have a better chance as a Presidential running mate. Others, like Justice Douglas, could be removed from consideration if the Democrats accepted Tuesday's Republican victories as a partial swing away from so-called Liberal policies.

IT'S SMART TO BE THRIFTY AT K. WOLENS

City Commission Argues Power To Hire Prosecutor

After considerable discussion on the legality of hiring a special prosecutor to assist the county attorney in prosecuting the cases of the Corsicana city commission Tuesday approved the action of Police Commissioner J. E. Davant, who last week announced Edwin Bond, Teague, had been hired.

Commissioner Edgar Rittersbacher introduced a motion that Bond be hired to assist the county attorney in the "numbers" cases only. He said he believed the amount needed would not exceed $1,000. The motion was seconded by Davant.

Other matters considered by the commissioners at their regular meeting fell under the heading of routine. The commission recessed until 8 p. m. Nov. 14 when a canvass of the bond election votes will be made.

Special Prosecutor Discussed. The special prosecutor question was brought up by Mayor Hubert T. Braselton.

(City officers and a liquor control board agent arrested three white men and several negroes just outside the city limits recently for operating a numbers racket.)

Commissioner Fred Prince asked, "couldn't you get any Corsicana attorneys to handle the case?"

The mayor replied: "The ones we wanted to take the job said they weren't interested and several advised us to get an outside attorney."

The mayor explained that the prosecutor was being hired on a "pay-as-you-go" basis, and that he would receive compensation only for work done in the numbers cases.

Prince asked, "How we the right to spend city taxpayer money for prosecuting county cases?"

The mayor answered: "We went into that and think we do, especially where the city attorney has become disqualified."

Jacob's Statement. City Atty. Julius Jacobs became disqualified when he appeared for the defense in the numbers cases soon after their arrest. He withdrew from the case a short time later.

"It's not that I'm disqualified in the case," he said, "but I don't believe it's my duty to prosecute cases in the county."

"My city attorney duties are confined to the city hall and the courts," he said. "They are not at the courthouse where you have a county attorney who is paid more than $4,000 a year to prosecute criminal matters."

Prince added, "That's what I've been wondering. If we have the right to spend city money in a county case."

Jacob asked if the special prosecutor was to be employed in connection with the bookmaking arrests and a murder which occurred in the city.

The mayor answered: "That question hasn't come up. We would like to hire him for assistance in the numbers cases. If we can't hire him, we'll let the county commission and put it to the public."

He added: "We consulted with several attorneys and at least four said we could hire a special prosecutor. We acted on their advice."

Bonner Comments. Commissioner A. H. Bonner, in defense of the action, said: "These fellows moved just outside the city limits for some unknown reason but they were selling their wares in the city. They have no respect for any of our citizens."

"This should be stamped out even if we have to spend all the taxpayers' money."

"If our local attorneys or our city attorney won't handle the case we have no other out."

"We either must clean up the city or let it run wild."

Negroes Want Paris. A petition signed by several hundred negro citizens seeking action on taxicabs owned and operated by negroes was read and filed.

A petition for a three-way traffic light at the intersection of West Highway 22, State Orphans Home road and North Thirty-seventh street was referred to Commissioner Davant. He is to check with the state highway commission for authority to erect the light.

Approve Map. A resolution approving a map of the Jeffers subdivision in the Peter Summerville survey was passed. The tract includes about 12 1/2 acres and is located west of the Hugh Drane property and about three blocks north of West Second avenue. Streets in the subdivision include Thirty-seventh, Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth as well as parts of West Woodlawn and West Sycamore avenues.

Embry Ferguson appeared for the Texas Power and Light Co. seeking minor changes. His request that the rates for the city be incorporated in the rate book and that new service regulations be filed was approved. He stated there was no change in rates.

The commission voted the city employees would celebrate Thanksgiving Day Nov. 23.

Commissioner Bonner reported

PHONE STRIKE

walkout, the strikers stationed picket lines around exchanges from coast to coast—a maneuver designed to keep nearly 300,000 fellow union members, including operators, away from their jobs.

Following instructions from their union, most of the non-striking employees refused to pass through the lines.

The strike struck first at the key American Telephone and Telegraph Building in New York City. A handful of employees braved the picket lines there but others, including a union-estimated 2,700 long distance operators, refused to pass through. The building handles an average of 73,000 long distance calls daily. A Western Electric spokesman said there were no reports of impaired service.

Pickets also ringed exchanges in Philadelphia, Detroit, Washington, Chicago, Des Moines, Kansas City, Dallas and then on the West coast.

Pickets were removed in Little Rock Ark., after Southwestern Bell obtained an injunction. They also were withdrawn in Memphis.

A union spokesman in New York said the Memphis pickets were withdrawn because of the absence from the city of CWA representatives.

Service in manually-operated exchanges was slowed in many areas.

Federal mediators had worked here through the night and early morning seeking to beat the pre-dawn deadline with a peace pact.

The marathon mediation session began at 1 p. m. (EST) Wednesday.

CWA President Joseph A. Belne confirmed that "the strike is on."

Negotiations were recessed, with no time for resumption set.

Belne said before the strike started that it would make long distance telephone service "almost impossible."

Manually-operated service would be disrupted in most of the nation, he claimed.

But dial telephone service probably would continue "at least until the equipment breaks down," he added.

It was expected that, as in past phone strikes, supervisory employees would do their best to keep the manual service operating.

Telephone strikes or short walkouts by CWA members took place in New York City, Washington, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Denver, Los Angeles, Warehouse workers in St. Louis had been on strike for several days.

The walkouts, the union said, were to prevent the company from moving vital materials in advance of today's scheduled strike.

Clerk Explains Pay In Election

Election judges and clerks have confused the general election with the Democratic primaries in their expense accounts, County Clerk J. Vernon Harwell said Wednesday.

"Statutes provide payment of the judges at a rate of $5 per day for holding general elections," Harwell said, "while the Democratic Executive Committee provides for payment in the primaries."

Payment in the primaries has been at a rate of $6 per day, and general election judges have been paid at a rate of $5 per day.

Harwell reported that the county should follow the statutory rate of $5, he indicated.

hundreds of new fish had been placed in Lake Halbert. He was given permission to contract for the removal of non-game fish from the lake.

Ennis Thanked. Commissioner Davant praised the work of the Ennis fire department at the recent Commercial fire and asked that a check for $100 be sent to the department. His request was approved.

He also expressed the city's thanks to the city employees who assisted the local firemen at the fire.

Commissioner Rittersbacher said, "all that's been said is true, but we also should let our own firemen know that we think they did a swell job, too."

Bills in the amount of $10,700.38 were approved.

The following applications for chauffeur's licenses were approved:

Thomas Blanton, T. E. Read, Larkin Allen, S. A. Harlan, James L. Post, James E. Richards.

The following petitions for street lights were referred to the street and light commissioners:

At corner of 1703 East Eighth avenue, corner of South Nineteenth street and West Fifteenth avenue, and between South Fourteenth and South Fifteenth streets on Ninth avenue.

Reports of officers and amounts collected were read and filed. They included the following:

October Reports. Tax assessor's report, $298; tax collector's report, $15,688.42, which included $14,308.17 in first-month ad valorem taxes and $85 for poll taxes; garbage fees, $3,824.50; water department, $406; sewer fees, $3,689.25.

Police department, fines assessed, $1,620; collected, $1,616; work on corporation court, 331 cases handled, $1,620 in fines assessed, and meter collections of $2,847.51; city sexton, $709.50.

Night housing units, $644.21; municipal airport, $582.54; negro housing units, $70; city engineer's office, $1,754.61; fire chief, $18 in alarms with $50 property loss.

JILL JONES' ENGAGEMENT, APPROACHING NUPTIALS ARE REVEALED AT KINSLOE TEA

Gold lettering on ivory satin ribbon which adorned the tea table at Kinsloe House Wednesday afternoon revealed the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Jill Jones to Russell Purifoy, Jr.

The First Methodist church will be the scene of the wedding on December 26th. Miss Jones is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Pountain Jones and Hal A. Jones of Greenville, and the bridegroom-to-be is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Purifoy.

Hostesses for the announcement tea were Mrs. W. M. Peck, Jr., Mrs. Eliot A. Johnston and Miss Judy Johnston. Guesting guests upon arrival was Mrs. Rufus Shell, and receiving with the hostesses were the future bride and her mother and the mother of the prospective bridegroom.

The bride-to-be was becomingly attired in a black velvet formal, adorned with not over-sized studs and with rhinestones. For floral charm, she chose green orchids.

Table Decor. The polished surface of the tea table reflected the rich hues of plum and non-pink chrysanthemums, shading from ivory to bronze, distinctively arranged in an antique silver tureen. Ivory twist candles burned in three-branch silver candelabra to provide soft illumination, and the huge wall mirror in the Aubrey-Kelly Room made the attractive appointments doubly effective.

Both GHS Graduates. The bride-elect was graduated from Corsicana High school, attended North Texas State College, and is now a student at Navarro Junior College. The bridegroom-to-be was a graduate from Corsicana High school and the University of Texas where he was affiliated with Theta Xi fraternity. He served in the U. S. Navy and S. Marine Corps in the South Pacific for three years during World War II, and is now a member of the faculty of the Rice public schools.

Child's Death Is Investigated

Officials of the Corsicana-Navarro Health Unit are investigating conditions in the Cayuga area to determine what caused the death of a three-year-old boy and hospitalized three others.

Dr. Paul H. Mitchell said he believed that illnesses and death were caused by food poisoning but that he wouldn't be completely sure until final tests are made.

Five members of the S. H. Howell family became ill over the week end and four were hospitalized. Larry Keith Howell, 3, died Sunday. All others have been released from the Navarro Clinic.

150,000 more prepared to enter from Manchuria. The Nationalists said these reserves are Russian-equipped and the cream of Red Gen. Lin Piao's Fourth Field army.

A wintry mist overhung the fronts, but the weather generally was good. Allied carrier-based planes and B29 Superfortresses took advantage of it to hit Red communication lines and supply centers.

A Red jet and two propeller-driven Yak fighters were shot down. The Superforts struck at Pukchon in Northwest Korea, and at the northeast coast city of Chongjin. Navy dive bombers hit two railroad bridges spanning the Yalu river on the northwest boundary.

The U. S. navy said its sky raiders whammed the bridges with bomb-rubbed Sinuiju—with 1,000 and 2,000-pound bombs. Sinuiju, a city of about 100,000, was reported 80 per cent destroyed in Wednesday's heavy B-29 raid.

Dive bombers from the carrier Philippine Sea ran into heavy anti-aircraft fire as they pounded the twin spans.

U. S. Navy F-4U Corsair fighters, flying cover for the bombers, ward off four Russian-made Mig-15 jet fighters and shot down in history's second death fight between jets. The first was Wednesday, when U. S. F-80 Shooting Stars downed one Mig-15 and damaged another.

On the ground, evidence was multiplying that Chinese troops were the only barrier to the Yalu river boundary and the end of the Korean conflict, which began with an invasion of the U. S.-sponsored Republic in the south.

Three South Korean army officers won walked 160 miles through lines said North Korean troops had abandoned. That was Wednesday, when U. S. F-80 Shooting Stars downed one Mig-15 and damaged another.

The regiment had reached the Manchurian border, north of Onjong but was cut off in the fierce Red counter-offensive and virtually wiped out.

MacArthur's spokesman said the Chinese troops were well trained and equipped. Neither he nor the U. S. Eighth Army officers gave any forecast on the next Chinese move.

A U. S. 10th Corps spokesman said the Chinese 184th Division was in retreat from front in North Central Korea where U. S. Marines had been measuring advance in the past days.

Small gains were reported by the U. S. Seventh Division which was within 24 miles of the Manchurian border in Northeast Korea.

The Rok Capital Division also advanced slowly and was within 100 miles of the Soviet Siberian border on the east coast.

On the commonwealth front, British Commonwealth troops and elements of the U. S. 24th Division advanced unopposed as much as three miles north of Kunu and toward the Chongchon river front.

Bodies Found. The British said they found evidence of a hasty withdrawal by the Reds northeast of Pakchon. Many bodies were found.

At sea, a fast U. S. carrier task force ranged the North Korean coast.

Naval bombardment routed an estimated 1,000 Reds led up at Ounmi Island, nine miles across the bay from the east coast port of Wonsan. Wonsan has become a major U. N. supply base for the northeastern front.

Mrs. L. O. McGraw, reporter; Mrs. Buell Robinson, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Dryman, the agent, gave a demonstration on making of breads and muffins.

The next meeting will be on Nov. 16 with Mrs. D. H. Hale.

Lions Convention Movie Shown At Club's Luncheon

A motion picture on the Lions International convention in Chicago last July was shown to members of the Corsicana Lions Club at the weekly luncheon Tuesday in the Navarro Hotel.

Another feature of the session was a report on the Halloween carnival, which netted the club $814.23.

The film, narrated by new Lions International Director-General Roy Keaton, showed portions of the three-hour parade in downtown Chicago.

Fred Harvey announced that Texas Lions club members are to be recognized for their contribution to the construction of the new hospital at a cost of $250,000. It will be strictly Lions operated, he said, in asking club members for their financial support.

Name of the camp will be "Melvin Jones Camp" in honor of the Lions International founder.

Carnival Chairman T. D. Morris reported that the club took in a grand total of $14,467.70 at the annual downtown event the night of Oct. 31. After pay-outs totaling $632.47, he reported, the net profit of the club's charity fund was $13,835.23.

Other guests at the Tuesday luncheon included Mrs. John H. Jennings, George Murphy of the Mineral Wells Lions club; Bill Lynch; and Jimmy H. Smith, deputy district governor of Mexico.

A great many haven't even had a chance to catch their breath from the last war. Their house-keeping problems are a hundred times more complicated than yours.

They are complaining. In addition they have all the other troubles, too, that makes them a pretty good cross section of the country.

What, then, is the number one problem of the hotel industry? "Well," says Robert K. Christenberry, "There isn't any that stands out over the rest. And when you lump all problems together, particularly supply problems, they just about balance out with the good things in this business."

Christenberry is president of the Hotel Aster in New York and chairman of the 35th National Hotel Exposition.

On the supply side, there are some 500 displays of merchandise at the exposition of everything under the sun a hotel needs from soap to soap and to bedding.

Taking an order is easy. The hard thing is answering the inevitable question: "When can you deliver?" There are some solid delivery dates.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The market advanced sharply today with key stocks up $1 to more than $2 a share at the final bell. Comparatively small demand was enough to push quotations up.

Only once during the day did buying interest show any real vigor. A morning flurry of activity gave prices good advance. Business ran along at a rate of about 1,000,000 shares for the full day.

Demand centered on steel, motor, rail, aircraft and radio-television issues.

Among the favorites were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, Admiral, Zenith Radio Corp., American Viscose, Santa Fe, Seaboard Air Line, United Fruit, United States Copper, Du Pont and American Cyanamid.

NOTED TEXAS NATURALIST IS GUEST SPEAKER FOR KINSLOE HOUSE LUNCHEON

Members of the Nature Study Club, Kinsloe House and guests enjoyed an interesting excursion into the life of a Texas naturalist when Roy Bedichek of Austin appeared as guest speaker at the membership luncheon at the Clubhouse Wednesday.

The Nature Study Club was hostess for the occasion which was a contribution to the membership of Kinsloe House.

Invocation was offered by Murphy Williams, husband of the late president of the hostess organization.

Allen Edens, club president, welcomed club members and guests, and introduced Mrs. J. S. Murchison, who in turn, presented the speaker.

Bedichek's nature writings have been used by the Voice of America in illustration of the happy American way of life in contrast to life behind the Iron Curtain.

Interesting Adventures. Mr. Bedichek's discussion featured the entertaining adventures of a man who observed nature in his own back yard.

He spoke of his young daughter's return to nature through a series of adventures, during which flowers and birds were identified, and unusual contacts with nature were experienced.

Corsicana School Executives Speak Before Civitans

The status of Corsicana's schools was discussed before the Corsicana Civitan Club Thursday when three school representatives spoke in observing American Education Week.

W. H. Newbold, superintendent of the Corsicana schools; R. A. Armistead, principal of Corsicana High school, and H. C. Allen, principal of Corsicana Junior High school, were the speakers.

Newbold reviewed the curriculum of the whole city school program, pointing out that the schools here give the child a full and complete program of education through the general period of grade school, the "finding" period of Junior High school, and the specialization of High school.

Newbold dwelt little on the physical needs of the schools but predicted that "you are going to hear about our physical needs later."

He told of the credit American schools are being given for making and keeping our nation free, and pledged that the schools are stressing continuation of this.

H. C. Allen reported an enrollment of 419 students in Junior High school here—more students in two grades than the high school has in three. He said that the students are figuratively "pushing" the walls of the school out, and that the enrollment may be higher later. Allen expressed the need of a cafeteria and several other rooms to handle the various subjects offered.

At the same time, he said, students can still get a good general education or a good education along chosen lines in the local school system. "Your boy or girl has the opportunity to select the course of study he or she is most interested in."

Current enrollment in High school here is 419. Armistead said—210 boys and 200 girls.

W. B. Waddell presided at the meeting. Tickets to the Baylor Choir presentation of "The Messiah" here in December were given to members for distribution. The tickets are free, but a free-will offering will be taken up to defray traveling expenses for the 100-odd members of the cast.

George Fletcher of Garland was a visitor at the meeting.

Farm Talk—

County's Farm Bureau Elects Walker President; Resolutions Are Adopted

By CLYDE JOHNSON
Daily Sun Staff

Another honor has been tossed out to Hugh Walker's way.

The ex-county agent who now heads the First National Bank's agriculture department is the new president of Navarro county's Farm Bureau.

Walker succeeds W. S. Price, Jr., of Kerens.

The Farm Bureau, which held its annual meeting Tuesday night in the courthouse, has a dozen resolutions ready for presentation at the state convention Nov. 20-22 in Mineral Wells.

Designed to benefit the farmer, these resolutions include: among other things—would retain cotton acreage control, remove cotton export limitations, tax natural gas at the well, continue the government agricultural programs, and provide 100 per cent parity in price supports of major farm commodities.

Other resolutions adopted would: take farm laborers out from under the Social Security program (placing them under this act is planned after Jan. 1).

Oppose proposed 10 state bureau membership dues, instead of the $5 current annual dues.

Reallocate funds from counties not using the total amount of PMA funds to counties like Navarro, which always uses up its total and always needs more.

Keep the tax rebate on farm used gasoline.

will be allocated after the first of the year.

Brannan said actual shipments for the eight month period may be as much as 3,854,000 bales. In addition to quotas, an estimated 250,000 bales will be shipped to Canada, which is exempt from restrictions. There also are 108,000 bales which were shipped to other countries for which no export allocations have been established, before export controls were put into effect.

It has been considered likely from the start of the quota program that the government would increase allocations enough to allow upwards of 4,000,000 bales to be moved abroad during the marketing year ending next July 31, providing, of course, there was no adverse turn in the situation.

While Brannan made no mention of it, other department officials said the government preferred to boost quotas while farmers still have cotton to sell.

Such action, they explained, would tend to give farmers the benefit of any price increase resulting from the raising of quotas. To delay raising quotas, they said, might limit benefits of price increases to cotton merchants and traders who acquired cotton from farmers during the harvesting season.

To Consider Needs

In allocating the 600,000-bale portion of the quota increase after the first of the year, the department will take into account the supplies available to importing countries from other world sources, and the reserve import needs of those countries which are dependent upon the United States for cotton.

Brannan said that since announcement of the original restrictions on Oct. 10, much additional and essential information had come to hand. The curbs brought sharp protests from cotton men and southern congressmen.

"For example," he said, "adverse weather conditions in early October in the cotton-producing areas indicated the possibility of further deterioration in the quantity and the quality of the crop. Since that time, weather conditions have improved to the point of being almost ideal for cotton harvesting. As a result, quantity has increased and grade and staple also have shown improvement. This reversal of the trends, which prevailed at the time the preliminary allocation was made, warrants today's announcement.

Better Prospects Now

"Furthermore, we now have more reliable information about the prospect for reaching our goal of a 16,000,000 bale crop during the coming year. We have also more information about the available supplies and facilities needed by farmers to achieve this production."

This year's crop has been estimated at 9,945,000 bales compared with 16,128,000 last year.

Brannan said he will keep the cotton situation under review. He said that any additional allocations that can be made safely will be determined and announced in line with developments.

As a further measure in protecting domestic supplies, the department of commerce at the request of the agriculture department, is making import license controls effective for cotton waste as of Nov. 9, Brannan said.

In any event, the American source said, the United States does not intend to let the matter lie dormant for any length of time while the council awaits the arrival of Chinese Communist representatives to answer the charges leveled against the Peking regime by Gen. MacArthur. The United States, the informant explained, is ready to proceed whether or not the Chinese Reds have arrived at Lake Success.

Warren R. Austin, chief American delegate, told the council Wednesday that the Chinese Communists had recklessly thrown 30,000 regular troops against the United Nations forces commanded by MacArthur. This action, Austin said, raised the danger that the present conflict may not be limited to the Korean area.

Subsequently the council, by a vote of 8 to 2, approved a British resolution inviting the Chinese Communists to send representatives here to answer the charges. Affirmative votes were cast by the United States, Britain, Russia, France, Ecuador, India, Yugoslavia and Norway. Nationalist China and Cuba opposed the resolution and Egypt abstained.

Since the question was one of procedure, Nationalist China's vote did not constitute a veto. The council rejected a Soviet proposal that would have allowed the Chinese Reds to participate in discussions of all angles of the Korean case.

Austin said he would regard the Chinese Reds as defendants called upon to explain, if they could, the dangerous actions of Mao Tse-tung's government.

He declared: "I believe representatives of this regime should be summoned to appear before this council in their true character to afford such information as they can."

Possibly the information gained from the Chinese Reds might help prevent a general war, Austin said. Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik objected to the use of the word summons, saying "you don't talk that way except to subject colonies."

Over the protest of Nationalist China's T. T. Tsiang the council adjourned its meeting after extending the invitation to the Chinese Reds.

CHERRY

CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE and with less worry—in the oil industry than in the football coaching profession. His salary under a five-year contract, which has three years to go after this season is reportedly $12,250.

Dana X. Bible, Texas athletic director whom Cherry succeeded as coach, expressed regret at Cherry's announcement. The two were in conference for some time this morning before their statements were released.

"If Bible's decision is final, Texas will lose a big asset, one of the finest men and most able coaches that has been connected with this institution or any other," Bible said, adding:

"I was looking forward with so much pleasure to having my son associated with Blair." (Bill Bible, sophomore, is a member of the varsity squad. He has seen little action as a halfback.)

Baylor Main Concern

Both Bible and Cherry said their most immediate concern was the upcoming Baylor game on Saturday.

"Now is hardly the time to have a discussion of the future—we have plenty of worry about Saturday," Cherry commented. "I don't want to interfere with the continued success of those fine boys of ours, or to hurt the University of Texas in any way."

Said Bible: "Now, opinion should come first; namely, defeat of Baylor and the rest of the teams (TCU, Texas A. and M., and LSU) on the schedule. Like Blair, all of us are putting our thoughts and efforts toward that end."

"After the football season, we'll turn our attention toward our future coaching setup."

"In the complexity of our industrial civilization, however, how can the average man know sharply and clearly his responsibilities? How can he draw a clear dividing line between necessary group cooperation and selfish banding together?"

The answer, he said must be supplied by "the great American educational system—every grade school, every college and every university." Only in the schools, said Eisenhower, can absence of partisanship and exactitude of knowledge clarify individual responsibilities.

Corsicana Tigers Play Hillsboro Here On Friday

State Home Meets Hubbard; Kerens Opposes Lions

By TALMADGE CANANT
Sun Sports Staff

The "home stretch" is near for all football teams in Navarro county.

A maximum of three more weeks will see champions crowned in six-man, Class B, Class AA and Junior college play.

Navarro at Bryan

Navarro Junior College, aiming for its second conference win, goes to Bryan Saturday night to meet the Allen Academy Ramblers.

State Home's Laddies, now leading the 22-B loop, go to Hubbard Friday night, where the Jaguars have rough intentions against the Lads' unsullied district record.

Other Class B games are scheduled Friday night in Blooming Grove, Dawson and Italy.

Mildred, south zone winner in the District 15 six-man race, is idle, but meets Allen at Eureka on Nov. 16.

Other games in District 13-AA find Ennis at Waco and Temple at Waxahachie.

Corsicana's Tigers again rate the favorite's role in the game with the Hillsboro crew, here Friday night. It's a hard road the Tigers tread, for each team it meets now has its sights set on an upset, and the locals can't have too much of a letdown.

But when there are practice injuries late this week, the undefeated and untied "Murder, Inc." of Coach Boyd Payne will be at full strength. Held to mild mayhem in Waxahachie by an inspired crew last week, Corsicana may be hitting on all cylinders again this week. They'll need to, for Payne is a native of Hillsboro, and an upset by the Eagles would be sweet to them, to say nothing of what it would do to the district standings.

Navarro Junior College goes to an Armistice Day meeting in Bryan Saturday afternoon at 2:30, against an Allen Academy crew that fills the air with passes.

Navarro won its first 1950 conference game, 34-7 against Blinn here last week in convincing fashion. There may not be such a wide margin in this Saturday's contest, and there is evidence to prove that the Bulldogs may have a battle on their hands.

Armistice Day Closing Noted

Armistice Day celebration here Saturday will consist principally of the closing of the banks, courthouse and city hall.

The State Home Laddies, with a dear 12-0 victory over Bynum last Friday night in the chill weather, now take another step in the direction of the district title against Hubbard.

Reports from Hubbard say that the Jaguars are all set for a victory—of their own. They point to the highest-scoring offense in the circuit, and to the home field advantage, and hold that a win for them wouldn't be too much of an upset.

Certainly State Home has no large squad, and injuries have hampered them all season. The Lads may have trouble of the first water in Hubbard Friday night, but on performance State Home still rates a slight favorite.

Kerens and Blooming Grove stage another 22-B battle Friday night, in Blooming Grove. This is a contest between the current second and third place teams, to see which one steps in the breach if State Home falters during the next two weeks. The game rates a toss-up.

Frost goes to Dawson and Bynum to Italy in other Class B games Friday night.

Forgery Charges.

A 28-year-old Corsican was charged Tuesday under three forgery complaints filed with justice of the Peace J. W. Sheppard.

He was placed in the county jail in lieu of $2,000 bond in each case. The checks were alleged to have been forged last month in Corsicana, amounting to a total of $103.50.

Singing Convention.

The Hubbard Sunday Singing Convention will be held Sunday afternoon, Nov. 12 at 2 p. m. in the Cold Corner Baptist church, it has been announced.
